Louis XV Style Carved Oak Boiserie with Antique Elements (ref.15672)

This magnificent carved oak panelling dates from the Louis XV period with elements from the 18th century. It was readapted in the 19th century. The panels are curved and decorated with acanthus leaves and palmettes. The wood panelling includes two double doors of the same size and a larger central double door. The fireplace, the trumeau and the cornices shown in the photos are not part of the panelling.
